

Important Announcement from Wills Consulting Group Limited

We are pleased to announce that we have revamped and re-launched our website illustrating the benefits of software products, including Elephant Call Management. We will soon offer a password protected Dealer Lounge where you can stay updated with latest WCGL product developments and information.

Please reset your browsers to our new URL and discover how WCGL can assist you in reaching even more customers and retaining your existing customer base.

Bulletins

In response to requests from our reseller partners we are launching a bulletin programme which we will distribute via the website and by email. The bulletins will include items of interest, notification of updates, important announcements and tips on key features which can aid your sales efforts.

We welcome feedback and suggestions and will do our best to include and share anything we think is of benefit to our reseller community. We would also like to be updated on any changes of email address or reseller contacts so we may keep our records current.

Look out for future bulletins and don't forget to regularly check our website for information.
